

2024 MIGRATION STUDIES BLENDED INTENSIVE PROGRAMME (MiS-BIP)

8-12 JULY
UNIVERSITY OF GRANADA
3 ECTS

SHORT DESCRIPTION

The 2024 Migration Studies Blended Intensive Programme (MiS-BIP) provides an intensive program that enhances the research exchanges among the group of universities participating. It aims at bringing together researchers who are working on migration-related issues from different disciplines in the Humanities and Social Sciences.

It aims at encouraging dialogue around migration transformations and its relation to digital technologies. New data sources and methodologies, empirical findings, practical and theoretical challenges, among others, are topics addressed in this edition. The summer school challenges the traditional approaches to migration policy and integration, not only theoretically but also at methodological level and everyday practice.

It therefore invites researchers to submit contributions focusing on (but not exclusively) the themes listed below:

- New data sources for studying internal and international migration
- Socio-economic and environmental drivers of migration
- Analysing incorporation and segregation of migrants' communities
- Modelling patterns of mobility
- Use of AI methods for analysing migration
- Evaluation of migration and development policies
- (Re)shaping research paradigms and methodologies in migration studies

Considering the different topics that the Ph.D. students are developing in their studies, the common concern on methodologies, categories and approaches of analysis will be the main instrumental focus. Therefore, it will be required that students work in teams and prepare presentations to debate on.

MULTIDISCIPLINARY APPROACH

The Migration Studies Blended Intensive Programme offers a multi-disciplinary and international approach on migration studies. By nature, the Doctoral Programme in Migration Studies presents a multidisciplinary design with four lines of research in which the candidates are inserted:

1. Social psychology analysis of migration
2. Cultural and gender analysis

3. Legal and socio-political analysis of migration: Welfare State and management of diversity
4. Globalization and human mobility: migration and labour market

This "one of a kind" programme in Spain involves more than 60 teaching researchers, from different fields (political science, sociology, law, geography, history, economics, anthropology, among others) working on migration issues as main area of expertise.

The program will include a range of academic activities such as: lectures (opening and closing lectures), academic and social roundtables, a documentary screening as well as PhD. workshops.
