

The New Internship Platform IPSI

Connecting Your Students with German Companies

The Baden-Württemberg Cooperative State University (DHBW) is now offering all students at its partner universities exclusive access to the IPSI platform. IPSI is an innovative internship platform developed to bridge the gap between international students and German companies seeking talented interns. Designed to foster global connections and enhance professional opportunities, IPSI is set to transform the way students and companies interact.

Benefits of IPSI for Your Students

Exclusive Access: Reserved for students at DHBW partner universities looking for an internship in Germany; the economic powerhouse of the EU.

Trusted Partners of the DHBW: Internship opportunities at our reputable and long-standing partner companies across various industries.

Career Development: Enriched student resumes with international work experience, boosting their competitiveness in the global job market.

Cultural Exposure: Experience in different working environments, languages and cultures; hence broadening students' personal and professional horizons.

Double the Advantage: Opportunity to maximize their experience by combining an internship with an exchange semester at one of the DHBW locations.

Double the Advantage: Intuitive and easy-to-use interface with valuable functions and tools of the DHBW locations.

About us

DHBW offers a variety of programs at 9 locations in the southwest of Germany. Our unique concept ensures that students have a permanent partner from day one, a company from the region that supports them. Due to our extensive experience and familiarity with our partner companies, we can place your students with confidence, ensuring that they receive exceptional guidance and support.
